He is one of the most Charismatic instructors in the world.

Grand master Jerry Bell Bey. His martial Arts training began at age ten and on his sixteenth birthday, he moved to Japan and his Karate-Do studying began with the Japan Karate Association (J.K.A.) in Tokyo under the teachings of Master Masatoshi Nakayama. He also trained with some of the most prestigious traditional Grandmasters in Japan, such as the great Grandmasters; Masutatsu Oyama, Yojiro Ishikawa, Osaka Shinto, Hidetaka Nishiyama, Teruyuki Okazaki and Muramasa Kudo.

Master Bell was the first foreigner to enter the Kumite Karate Tournaments in Japan, and becoming the first foreigner to ever win the traditional competition. Master Bell founded the Black Ryu Organization in Los Angeles, California. Some of its early members included Cuba Gooding Jr., Black Ryu is an organization dedicated to the martial arts in their most ancient form.

The Art can trace its origin as far back as ancient Egypt, and the African continent. In 2004, Master Bell returned from retirement to once again win the World Kumite in Osaka, Japan. He would later instruct Eddie Griffin, and many others in the entertainment community. In addition, he has trained Special Operations Forces domestically and internationally as well as being the personal security advisor of many royal families around the world.

Jerry's family is not only musically blessed, but athletically blessed as well. While Jerry inherited his mother's smooth vocals; he also drew from the best of his father and imitated his every move.

At 10 years old, Jerry Bell studied Judo under the guidance of his father James Edward Bell Jr., and Boxing under another family member, Muhammad Ali.

At 13 Jerry was studying Karate at the East Coast Karate Association. By 17, he had traveled to Okinawa to study Okinawan Goju under Grand Master Hidegami Matsamura.

Later in Japan, he studied Shotokan under Grand Master Nakayama Masatoshi, Master Ozumi Ozawa, and in the United States under Grand Master Hidetaka Nishiyama.

Jerry also studied Kyokoshinkai under Grand Master Masutatsu Oyama, Shito Karate under Master Yojiro Ishikawa, and Iaido under Master Muramasa Kudo. He then studied Aikido under Master Shoji Nishoi, Silat under Master Abdul Muhammad Ben, Tae Kwon Do under Masters Simon and Phillip Rhee, and Sanuc Ryu Jujitsu under Supreme Grandmaster Doctor Moses Powell.

Jerry lived more than fifteen years in the far east doing six month stays between the United States studying the martial arts and as a result speaks Japanese, Korean, Chinese and Malay.

Jerry Bell entered the Kumite in Japan intent on becoming the first foreigner ever to win the traditional competition.

In 1984 Jerry entered the arena long before the public arrived for his first match. He sat alone on the fight platform meditating, a practice he would continue throughout the rest of his career. During the beginning of this match, Jerry opened with a classic Ali shuffle. His Japanese opponent attempted to mimic the movement, at this point; Jerry Bell stopped, and stood perfectly still watching his opponent dance when the opponent started to move in Jerry knocked him out with a jump spinning hook kick!

The following year Jerry entered and won the Kumite in another stunning victory!

In 1993 "Inside Karate" featured him on the cover for their 20th Anniversary. Grandmaster Bell continued to defend his title and eventually retired after more than 500 fights; never having been defeated!

The 1988 movie, "Bloodsport", starring Jean-Claude Van Damme as Frank Dux, was actually based on Jerry Bell, who fought, and won the Kumite twice. It seems Frank took credit for something he never did.

In 2004 he came out of retirement to test his skills one more time and won the championship once again; making this fight his 501st fight; again undefeated!

Grandmaster Jerry Bell is now in the Black Belt Hall of Fame, The Martial Arts Hall of Fame and the World Karate Hall of Fame. He's earned six World Gold Medals and three Silver Medals. He has a 7th degree Black Belt in Shotokan, a 4th degree Black Belt in Kyokoshinkai, a sixth degree Black Belt in Iaido, a second degree Black Belt in Judo, a fourth degree Black Belt in Aikido, a 10th degree Black Belt in SanucesRyu Jujitsu and a 10th degree Black Belt in the Black Ryu System that was founded by him.
